Exercise 2 (15 points)

Read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning.

A. Britain and the European Union

Just off the north coast (0) off continental Europe, there is an island called Britain. Today, this island is closely connected (1) to the rest of Europe; there are direct trains to Paris and Brussels, and thousands of people, cars and lorries cross (2) the Channel and the North Sea every day between British and continental ports.

Britain is very much a part (3) of Europe; however most of the people in Britain (today, at least) do not want any more European "integration".

"We're different, aren't we?" says Eddie, (4) in London. "We do things differently. We don't want to become like other countries."

Millions of people think the same as Eddie. For example, a large majority do not want Britain to join the Euro. They imagine that Britain's "identity" will be lost, if we say goodbye (5) to our pounds and our pennies. They forget that things are also very different from one European country to another.

It's quite a strange situation really; but it is a situation that can easily be explained.

B. Who is James Bond?

In one of the first Bond novels, Ian Fleming tells us that James Bond - the classic "Englishman"? - was the son of a Scottish father and an Oriental mother. But perhaps this was not really true.

The title of the 19th Bond film, "The World is Not Enough", was based (6) on the Latin motto of the Bond family, which is mentioned in one of the early novels. However, (7) it now appears that the motto is not that of the Scottish Bonds, but that of a different Bond family, who came (8) from the South West of England. So perhaps, Bond really is English, not Scottish, after all. Who knows?

Bond went (9) to school in England, anyway - to Eton College, the same school as his creator Ian Fleming. This is where Princes William and Harry were educated, and also many British Prime Ministers, including David Cameron! It is a school where young people learn how to move in high society, like Bond does so well.

After leaving school, Bond did not go to university - it wasn't necessary (10) in the 1950's.

Oh? You didn't know Bond was so old? He doesn't look it, granted, but he is! Like a few other famous people, he seems to have found the secret of eternal middle age (we can't call it "eternal youth", can we?).

C. Coca - cola

What is the most recognizable object in the world? Could it be a football? Or a Big-Mac? No, the answer is a Coca-Cola bottle. The famous Coca-Cola bottle is almost 100 years old !

Football and big macs are certainly part of life (11) for lots of people; but Coca-Cola is now a permanent part of world culture. People know and drink Coca-Cola all (12) over the world.

It is said that the Coca-Cola bottle is (13) the most recognised object in the world. Hundreds of millions of people can recognise a Coke bottle (14) by its shape, even if they cannot see it! And the famous Coca-Cola logo is the most famous logo in the world. Unlike any other famous commercial logo, it has not changed (15) for 100 years!
